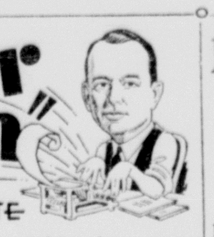
CHEESE PLANT AIDS FARM INCOME

"Our Town"



by J. B. WHITE

A hundred and eighty-six years ago, in a little stone office in Clarke county, Virginia, a boy sat poring over the mysteries of a map.

Twenty years later a soldier passed there on his way to Cambridge, Mass.

The surveyor, the soldier was George Washington. He was on his way to take command of the continental army.

An army? Rather a handful of colonists arrayed against the military force of an empire. But what war those soldiers fought!

The men who defeated the armies of an empire were led by a sense of oppression. But more than that. It takes more than an abstract sense of injustice to make a winning army. There must be a man among them who is greater than they, a man they can trust and confide in.

He must be the one ready to step out like a flash at the proper time and call them to battle and to death. He must inspire them. Mere sense of oppression does not do it.

Such a man was Washington. But possibly the greatest test of his leadership came, not on bloody fields, but at Valley Forge, where a miracle of brotherhood kept an army from disintegrating.

Valley Forge remains a miracle in the history of all wars, a miracle of unselfishness, of heroism, of brotherly love in the midst of conflict.

Roaring guns break a man's spirit, but it's harder for the soldier to face hunger. And at Valley Forge there was none of the glory that comes with braving the guns. There was only starvation and a grim fight against an enemy that could not be shot at.

That was the hardest kind of a battle, and it took the greatest leadership. Washington was the man who gave it. Moving among his men like a brother he went during that terrible winter cheering, consoling, comforting.

Fighting under such a man as that, how would you have felt at Yorktown? To see Washington standing there, straight as the surveyor's rod he used as a boy, and into his hands is passing the sword of a master tactician, the leader of the empire. Would you have felt like cheering?

When a child is slow in learning to spell correctly do not blame the child; blame the forebears of the English speaking people and blame the modern scholars for being stubborn and dogmatic. No child could be as slow in grasping a spelling lesson as the advocates of simplified spelling have been in carrying their point.

At first English spelling was phonetic, just as the spelling of children is now. There were no "through," "drought, "programme," "debt," "enough," "campaign" and "gouge" in the language before William the Conqueror took a lot of Frenchmen into England with him, before Caxton and his press tampered with the written language and Dr. Johnson embalmed the whole foolishness in nis dictionary.

English words should be spelled like the little girl spelled conopy: "canip." Nor should it have been necessary for Andrew Jackson to apologize for his misspelling by observing that he didn't think much of a man who could not spell a word in more ways than one.

Progress in the simplification of spelling has been discouragingly, almost exasperatingly, slow, but the revolution is inevitable. If the grammarians and pedogogues will not do it, the worm will turn some way and demand that the simple be substituted for the silly.

Jack London's great story of the north wastes, "Call of the Wild," a dog story that only London could write, is on Sunday and Monday at the Cameron Theatre. This is followed by Gary Cooper and Ann Harding in "Peter Ibbetson" on Tuesday, February 25.

UNDER THE COURT HOUSE DOME

By Berenice McLerran

Many times during the past several days the slow tap, tap of the walking cane of an aged person has been heard on the floors of the court house as they call to get their application blanks for old age pension. Perhaps their hearts are lighter as they dream of things they can now buy and for which they have yearned. Perhaps it gives some the feeling of independence, which they have not felt for years.

While the older person is enjoying the future feeling of security, the younger minds are trying to find an answer to the question "How is the Old Age Pension to be paid?"

Down through the years, these same men and women now aged, have solved the problems of the government, have found a way to care for those younger than they and provide for the future. Now they have handed the torch of problems to the younger generation and are only asking for security and comfort.

The banquet will be held in the basement of the Methodist church. Odd Fellows from Austin, Taylor, Smithville, Bartlett, Granger, Temple, Belton, Georgetown, Florence and Milano are expected.

School Board Buys Additional Ground For $2000 Here

The Cameron School Board has purchased additional property adjoining the Yoe High School campus, being a portion of the west block of the Mrs. W. A. Morrison home.

The site purchased is 210x220 feet and lies directly east of the Yoe High school. The Board paid $2000 for the property. Funds saved from the operation of the budget made this advantageous buy possible.

It is said that no building is contemplated for the present but this site will be available in the future for expansion of the system.

Farmers and business leaders in Cameron were optimistic over the outlook for the success of the Kraft-Phoenix Cheese plant to open here on March 1.

Indications of co-operation from a wide area embracing several counties came in to bolster the already formidable line up for the plant.

Chairman J. C. Baldwin of the special committee returned late last week from a completed tour in Hearne and Calvert sections. He found farmers anxious to begin the flow of milk to the Cameron plant and believes that the plant here will mean a stable income throughout the year.

B. M. Alexander, to manage the plant in Cameron, accompanied Mr. Baldwin on the tour and has also been active in contacting farmers in other sections. Mr. Alexander said that following the last issue of the Herald it had not been necessary to explain the plans for opening on March 1 and that farmers over a wide area in the western part of the county where he worked, had been informed in advance of his coming.

Mr. Baldwin of the Mauritz-Baldwin Corporation in Cameron, was one of the early advocates of the plant. He was greatly pleased to have such wide co-operation and believes that when the plant opens here on March 1 it will have almost a capacity supply of milk.

It was pointed out that at the prevailing prices of butter fat 1000 cows should bring a gross revenue of $200,000 a year to the producers when all advantages are taken into consideration. This income will bring prosperity to farmers in this section because it will supplant other revenues.

Final details are being perfected at the plant this week to get it ready for opening on March 1st. Farmers were asked to visit the plant and to get all possible information.

CUNNINGHAM GIVEN TWO YEAR SENTENCE

O. J. Cunningham was convicted in District court Monday and given two years in prison on a charge of intent to murder Mrs. Floyd Horton on the night of August 28, 1935 near Rockdale.

The jury found Cunningham guilty of attempting to shoot Mrs. Horton night mail carrier for the Austin American. Several bullets penetrated the car. Mrs. Horton returned the fire and escaped.

Cunningham, deaf, defended himself. Although unable to hear he reads the lips of those who speak to him and in that way converses.

FIREMAN ASK FOR LOWER INSURANCE

Volunteer Firemen of the District were asked to lend their aid to bring down fire insurance rates in Texas at a banquet in Rosebud last week.

Cameron firemen attended the meeting in large force and gave support to the movement to save the people on insurance rates.

Fred Clapp, vice president of the Texas Volunteer Firemeny's Association presented the plea to firemen to begin the fight for lower rates. He said that actual figures show a profit of about ten million dollars in 1934. The state association has started an investigation of these profits. There followed a round table discussion and a lecture on modern methods of fighting fire.

Other speakers were: Cecil Glass, attorney from Marlin, Rev. O. C. Acrey of Cameron; the mayor and City Commissioners of Rosebud.

Those who attended from Cameron were: Emory B. Camp, Rev. O. C. Acrey, Jack Henderson, Frank Richter, O. O. Duncum, Fred Jackson, Ralph Michalka, Blondy Brashear, Oscar Schiller, John Eanes, Jerry Mikula, Albert Richter, Frank Richter, Jr., Lewis Matula, Robert Michalka, Bill Pugh, Bert Nicholson, Zeke Brod and Pete Mikula.

INSANITY PLEA FOR JACK CRAIN HERE

An effort to prove Jack Crain insane was being made in District Court here this week. He went to trial Tuesday and is being defended by Bill Wallace who was appointed by the court.

District Attorney Camp introduced the testimony of two physicians who testified Crane is sane.

Crain is charged by indictment with two cases of assault with intent to murder and felony burglary.

Defense introduced witnesses who

CHEESE PLANT HEAD PLEASED AT OUTLOOK

B. M. Alexander, manager of the Kraft-Phoenix Cheese Plant to open in Cameron on March 1, told a representative of the Herald many farmers had visited the plant since the invitation was published last week.

Mr. Alexander, on behalf of his company was glad to welcome these milk producers and requested the Herald to say that any information desired will be supplied. If there be any among the farmers in this territory who cannot make a personal visit to the plant a letter written to Mr. Alexander will bring all information through the mails.

"We have, and will take time to answer all letters and give farmers all information about the plant and our opening on March 1," said Mr. Alexander. "We greatly appreciate the large number who have visited our plant and we extend the invitation further to all who will visit us and look over Cameron's newest and very important industry."

MRS. AGNES GERICK BURIED IN CAMERON

Many years ago Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bauer were the proud parents of a baby girl. They lived across the ocean in a town named Spiech which is now a part of Czecho-Slovakia.

She was born March 9, 1847, almost 90 years ago. She was reared in that part of the world. She attended school in Spiech until she was 14 years of age. At that age she was compelled by circumstances to go to work to help support her parents. She was only a child, but did her best and succeeded.

At an early age her romance began

Many Ask For Old Age Pension Here

Hundreds of aged people were making application for the pension in Milam county. At the time of issuance the Herald could not obtain the number thus far but Judge Jeff Kemp said 1800 blanks had been received in the county.

According to a statement issued in August, 1935, by the association opposed to the old age pension there are 1723 people in the county 65 years of age and over. If as Judge Kemp believes 1800 blanks will not be sufficient and around 2000 get pensions it will bring $60,000 per month to the county. This includes $15 from the state and a like amount from the federal government.

The total to the county in age benefits would be $720,000 per year. The cost will be very heavy.

To pay the amount indicated for Texas it will be necessary for the legislature to tax eery man, woman and child in the state about $9 per year.

Milam county would have to pay about $450,0000 in taxes for the state age pension alone, if a total of around $45,000,000 is required to pay the pension bill for Texas.

All persons, regardless of circumstances, are believed eligible. The constitutional amendment did not exclude anyone. A test is now being made of the law enacted by the legislature by T. H. McGregor, noted Texas lawyer.

Reveries of a Tramp

I am only a tramp you think as you pass
In your high speed cars so fine,
Your warm bodies in silk and furs,
And you scoff at these rags of mine

You fix your gaze on the road ahead
And seem not to know I am here,
It matters not to your stony heart,
If the night looms to me dark and drear.

You are speeding on to well-warmed homes,
And comforts which I cannot know,
To an evening of love and laughter
While I pass a night of woe.

Yet I know there's an all wise being
Who looks down with compassion and love,
Who, when I've finished my weary wanderings,
Will receive my soul above.

INTESCHOLASTIC LEAGUE WORK

Interscholastic League work is for the masses and not for just the select few in school. It is natural to want to win or excel over someone else, and without that desire, one will not put forth his best efforts.

Some one will say that he can not win over someone else; but John Doe is competing against his own progress, and any progress made, therefore, makes him winner. It is all to gain and not a thing to lose in partipation of literary events. What better proposition would you want?

It is unfair to take school time for county meet work unless a large per cent of the pupils are participating. Ineligibility does not bar an individual from local participation. That pupil needs training the same as any one else. Of course he is not eligible to represent the school in the county competition. In checking up on the eligible grades for Interscholastic League work, we found that 84 per cent af the students of the grammar grades and 77 per cent of the students of the high school were participating in one or more literary event.

We, as a whole, are proud of the interest that our students are showing in the work. We feel that we have many promising contestants and we hope they will place among the best.

TEACHERS' MEETING

At a recent teachers' meeting there was a general discussion of how a paper should be graded. The questions were: How much should be taken off for misspelled words and faulty sentence structure, an should there be two grades, one for content and one for form, given?

The teachers' meeting on Thursday, February 13, tried to help solve some of these problems.

The following topics were discussed:

Introduction to Test and Measurements—Miss Gilchrist.

General Survey of Achievement—Miss Johnson.

Construction of Standardized Tests—Mrs. Montgomery.

The meaning of Scores—Mr. McNiel.

Administrative and Supervisory Uses of Educational Tests — Miss Harrell.

The teachers are happy indeed to have so many visitors present at these meetings. The teachers' problems are indirectly the parents' problems, and we wish more of the parents would come and discuss with us the problems concerning their child.

The following patrons were present at the last meeting: Mrs. F. Worley, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Griffith, Mrs. E. Willie, Mrs. Fojt, Mrs. H. Faulkner, Mrs. L. Johnson, Mrs. Leonard Brown, Mrs. Hazel Clark.

CHAPEL PROGRAM

A very interesting Valentine and Lincoln program, combined, was presented by the second grade on Thursday, February 13.

The students showed talent and they have promises of becoming "big stars."

The following program was given:

1-5—Stories about Lincoln.

6—A Valentine Acrostic.

7—A Valentine Song.

8—Somebody's Valentine (a play).

Everyone enjoyed the program. We had a number of visitors. Everyone is cordially invited to attend these chapel programs every Thursday.

FFA ATTEND OFFICERS' TRAINING SCHOOL AT ROCKDALE

Six officers of the San Gabriel chapter of Future Farmers attended the officers, training school at Rockdale on February 11. The boys received valuable information at this meeting, and the social hour was also enjoyed.

The regular meeting of the chapter at San Gabriel was well attended on Thursday, February 13th. The boys made plans for the future.

KIDDIE'S COLUMN

St Valentine's Day in the San Gabriel School

First Grade

Each one in the room took the "civil service examination" on knowing each name. Kathryn Ann Case and Lilian Garner made the highest grades. On Thursday and Friday they sorted the mail. The mail carriers were Lois McDonald, Mary Catherine Glasscock and Joanne Smith, each having a route.

Second Grade

The Valentine work was worked in with the post office projects. A post office was built and really had boxes with dials. Those who did not have post office boxes had route boxes. Hubbard Keith Faulkner was the first to pass the "civil service examination," and he became postmaster. He was kept busy. Eugenia Isaac and Louis Mertz were the postmistress and postman. To pass the examination, they had to be able to read and write the names of all in the room.

Third Grade

Friday afternoon, February 14, the third grade received valentines and drank punch in memory of St. Valentine.

Fourth Grade

After the passing of valentines, a few songs were sung, and several games were played.

Fifth Grade

This class had a most attractive box and each member enjoyed receiving their message of love.

EGGS AND POULTRY

Presenting

THE WATTS FAMILY

Glowy Watts—This gay chap takes care of lighting all through your house. One of his slogans is "Better Light for Better Sight." The radio is also his particular job. He might be said to be the arch enemy of Darkness and Gloom.

Coolsy Watts—His name tells a part of Coolsy's story. He kicks up the cool breezes with the electric fan, and the new Attic Ventilator. He keeps the electric refrigerator cold, protects your food and your health. He operates the room coolers, and air conditioners.

Hotsy Watts—Where there is electrical heat, there is Hotsy. She irons, cooks, percolates coffee, bakes waffles, warms your feet with the heating pad, curls your hair. She's a "hot" number when it comes to work, as housewives know.

Tidy Watts—One look at this prim Miss and you just know she does the cleaning of rugs, draperies, and furniture with the electric cleaner. She washes clothes, washes dishes, and dries them, too. Then she has the constant task of keeping time by the electric clock.

The World's Greatest Servants

Here is a Family of Servants which has been working quietly in your home for many years. They want you to know them so that their hours of service to you will become more personal.

In more ways than one the Watts Family is the most remarkable in the world. They see and know everything about everybody . . . yet never breathe a word of their knowledge. They are ready for work at any second of the day or night . . . yet they charge less the longer they work.

They save time . . . effort . . . worry . . . money. They create leisure . . . comfort . . . convenience . . . health . . . joyous living. They light your home. They cook . . . wash . . . iron . . . sew . . . heat water . . . curl hair . . . refrigerate. They bring amusement, music, news over the radio. They are ever present, constant in their service, yet they work for the lowest wages of any group of servants the world has ever known.

The Watts Family exists solely for your service. They never tire, never ask for time off, never keep you waiting. It is our privilege to present them to you so that you may know them and be able to check up on their work in your home. They each have specific things to do, as you will observe in the individual introductions herewith.

GREEN

issues. He shuns hypocrisy as candidate for an important office. Mr. Green is unassuming, fair, sincere, self-controlled; a man who is not afraid to openly champion the cause of the downtrodden.

Malcolm A. Green stands up for the people, placing human rights above property rights. Close to the people because of them, he will always be found faithful in the war of humanity against the powers of greed. Asking your cooperation solely on the basis of merit, he pledges his all, his best, without stint, and without thought of self or advancement in order to serve the people of Milam, Lee and Burleson counties and the State of Texas.

There are numerous economic and social wrongs which must be corrected if representative government is to survive in the United States, he says. His platform includes:

1. A Small One House Legislature—Large two-house bodies are antiquated, criminally so, and hot-houses of evil. As everybody well knows they are often corrupt, irresponsible, and, of course, cumbersome, and wasteful. The worst feature is the almost impossibility of passing measures aimed primarily to benefit the mass of the people. A legislature of 42 members based on the 21 Congressional Districts would be sane. Members would receive fair salaries responsible only to the people of Texas, be subject to recall whenever the people's interests were betrayed, give their full time to the welfare of the people, preferably elected for 4 years. Social progress demands, however, that Texas' 254 counties be consolidated into a few. A distressed people can save untold millions of dollars on their cost of local government, al lof which is now wasted to support the existing obsolete set-up. There is no earthly reason for 254 counties averaging 30 square miles.

2. Public Ownership of All Public Utilities—Privately owned utilities are too rich and powerful to be effectively regulated in the public interst. Through extortionate rates based on anything except actual value of physical properties, these vast predatory interests are exploiting the people unmercifully. Low rates on gas, electricity, water, telephones, telegraphs, etc. are sorely needed. The issue is clear: It is the American Plunderbund or the American people. We can take our choice. It is a grim fact that whoever controls electric power will be our masters.

3. For Liberal Interpretation and an Adequate Old Age Pension Law—The law passed by the 44th Legislature is a sad mockery of the hopes of Texas' indigent aged, a travesty on justice. The State Constitution must be amended to give a decent pension. The majority of Texas' 300,000 past 65 deserve a pension. The requirement of a pauper's oath should be abolished as debasing and uncalled for. Also, adequate revenue can be had without further impoverishment of the people.

4. Low Registration Fees On Light Automobiles and Farm Trucks—Any tax that is just is based squarely on ability to pay. This plan is fair: Cars up to 3,000 pounds in weight, 10c per 100; 3001-3,500, 20c per 100; 3,501-4,000, 50c per 100; 4,001-4,500, 75c per 100; 4,501 and up, $1 per 100.

5. A State Income and Gift Tax—The income tax is the fairest of all taxes because it is based on ability to pay. The State tax is to be graduated steeply upward on incomes from $5,000 to $100,000. Millions can be raised annually without further anti-social taxation. The existing inheritance law should be raised to be productive.

6. An Intelligent Drivers' License Law—Laws modeled after The Uniform Motor Vehicle Code seem to offer the only real solution for our alarming automobile accidents and deaths. This code has the approval of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, The American Automobile Association, The National Safety Council, etc. Fool drivers in fast cars are all potential killers and something drastic must be done to conserve human life.

7. Abolition of the Poll Tax—A poll for voting is wrong in principle because it is a property qualification. Many people in dire distress through not fault of their own are disfranchised. Let's amend the State Constitution and wipe out this iniquitous poll tax in the name of democracy and social justice.

8. Abolition of Tax Exempt Securities—Against the public interest, no legitimate reason justifies governments to issue tax exempt securities. This baiting of money lenders is merely an old custom. Rich people have put untold billions in untaxables simply to avoid moderate income taxes. If social justice were done all the billions now tax exempt would be taxed.

Other issues he favors include: Abolition of compulsory military training in colleges, Nation wide vote on war with automatic enlistment of all who favor sending American boys to slaughter on any foreign soil, Standard minimum wage bill for women and children in industry, Organized labor in industrial unions with the 30 hour week, Security to labor of its inherent right to bargain collectively, Increased severence taxes on natural resources.

A modern book-keeping system for the State, Producers' and Consumers' cooperatives, Repeal of the chain store tax law, Adequate medical care for everybody, Abolition of the death penalty, Correction of the injustice on equity holders in respect to ad valorem taxes, Abolition of ad valorem taxes as practicable, Increased government control of credit and currency, Increased pay for Texas' school teachers, Abolition of child labor in industry.

Continued and ample unemployment relief with a decent wage on all public works, A just system of State unemployment insurance in harmony with the Federal Social Security Act, Recognition by society of man's inalienable right to worthwhile employment, Average cost of production plus a fair frofit on all farm commodities, Abolition of the power of courts to invalidate acts of the people's representatives, Abolition of company unions and yellow dog contracts, Abolition of the use of injunctions and armed force in labor strikes, Investigation of the use of executive veto power on acts passed by the people's representatives.

R. F. HAILEY BURIED AT LITTLE RIVER

Funeral services were conducted at Little River church Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock for R. F. Hailey, who died in Hearne at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Birdie Evans, Tuesday at the age of 86.

Rev. T. Walter Moore, pastor of the Methodist church, conducted religious rites in the presence of relatives of deceased, and many friends of the bereaved family.

E. H. Hartsfield was in charge of funeral arrangements.

A native of Missouri, Mr. Hailey came to Texas when a young man and had lived in Milam and Robertson counties for many years. Lately, because of infirmities of age, he had been confined to his home most of the time. He had many acquaintances and friends over the two counties in which he was best known for the good qualities which were his.

Surviving, besides the daughter, Mrs. Evans, are two other daughters, Mrs. Ollie Self of Lipan, and Mrs. Jessie Shuffield of Maysfield; two sons, Frank Hailey of Anson, and Gearge Hailey of Hearne.

NOTICE TO OLD AGE PENSIONERS

You have probably noticed in the press that W. S. Baugh, of Rogers, has been appointed District Manager for this district and there will be an investigator appointed for Milam County. It was thought that all applications would be made to this county investigator, but I am informed that such is not the case. Mr. Baugh informs me that blanks will be available on and after February 14, 1936, and that it will not be necessary for applicants to come to Cameron but applications can be made before any Notary Public or Justice of the Peace. After swearing to same, the application is mailed to W. S. Baugh, Austin, Texas, who in turn, sends it to the county investigator for investigation and a report, lots of red tape. It has been reported that I will have some official connection with the work but this is an error, however, to those who come to my office, I will be glad to render any and all possible assistance.

Application blanks are now in the hands of each Justice of Peace and I also have a supply in my office.

Jeff T. Kemp,
County Judge, Milam County.

MOTHER! don't experiment with your Child's Cold

Rub on VICKS VAPORUB

Often, "mere colds" have serious consequences. It is dangerous to neglect a cold—equally dangerous to experiment with half-way measures.

Feel safe! Use Vicks VapoRub—the proved external method of treating colds. No risks of constant internal "dosing", which so often upsets delicate digestions and lowers resistance when most needed.

DOUBLE DIRECT ACTION

Just rubbed on at bedtime, VapoRub fights a cold direct—two ways at once—by stimulation and inhalation. This combined poultice-vapor action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion. Often by morning the worst of the cold is over.

DR. S L. JOEKEL TO ADDRESS BANQUET

The colorful humorist of the Presbyterian church, Dr. S. L. Joekel, will deliver one of his unique addresses to the citizens of Cameron at the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce on March 10th.

He is one of the most popular after dinner speakers in the state according to press comments and the Speakers Book of America. He enjoys high ranking as an after-dinner club speaker in the nation. He is in constant demand over the state at all fun fests and Cameron citizens will be delighted to hear him again in this city. He has made three addresses in Cameron in the past five years and his popular style of wit and humor, and clever take offs have made him the choice for the big banquet here March 10th.

Tickets are soon to be placed on sale by the Chamber of Commerce and it will be necessary to buy them early in order to insure places at the table. It is expected that over two hundred men and women will hear Dr. Joekel. Limited space will prevent many from attending the annual event.

Leap Year

This is Leap Year. Why called Leap Year is supposedly because the month of February has added a day; and as it came in on Saturday this year, there are five Saturdays in the month this year, which has not occured before since 1908, and will not happen again until 1967; and is the seventh time since the Gregorian Calendar was adopted in England and this country in 1752.

A number of writers have agitated the question of rearranging our calendar so that leap year would not occur, but government staticians have opposed it. It would cause considerable amount of work to legal business of the past, not to speak of the worry.

Leap Year is said to be a boon to misses who would like to propose since the female sex has assumed many of the heretofore privileges of the male sex. Why not let her make her selection for the most vital event in her life? Maybe there would be fewer trips to Reno, and much less expense. There are a number of male eligibles in Cameron, as well as elsewhere, who would be too gallant to say NO. By this change the ministers would probably make a few more sheckels, not to speak of the fee the Judge and Justice of Peace would gather in.

A Free Press.

People today enjoy many liberties purchased in past ages with blood and anguish of heroes. The pity about it is that many of the recipients of these blessings do not realize what they have simply because they have never known any other condition.

In America, for example, what American has known what it is to live without a free press? Except fnr some slight censorship in times of war, American newspaper editors have been free to print the news and their interpretations thereof, unhindered by any autocratic hand of dictatoial government.

Whatever happens, as far as keenly inteligent reporters can discover the facts, are promptly brought to the attention of millions of readers in the daily columns of thousands of newspapers. Our people know this. They do not know what it would be to live with these channels of news and comment tainted and colored by greedy, self-interested officials.

It is not so everywhere. In Germany and Italy, for example, where Dictators Hitler and Mussolini rule, the press only prints what the government permits them to, and very often even the editorial comment upon national and international affairs is along lines of thought laid down by the propaganda chiefs of the respective governments.

Newspaper readers in Germany and Italy, perhaps Russia and Japan, as well, can only read what the men in public office and power are willing for them to read, and these men use the columns of the papers to influence the people's thought sand actions. By coloring the news, by suppressing unfavorable facts, by controlling the discussion of public affairs, dictators in office can fool and mislead the public, to its hurt but not to any injury of the dictators.

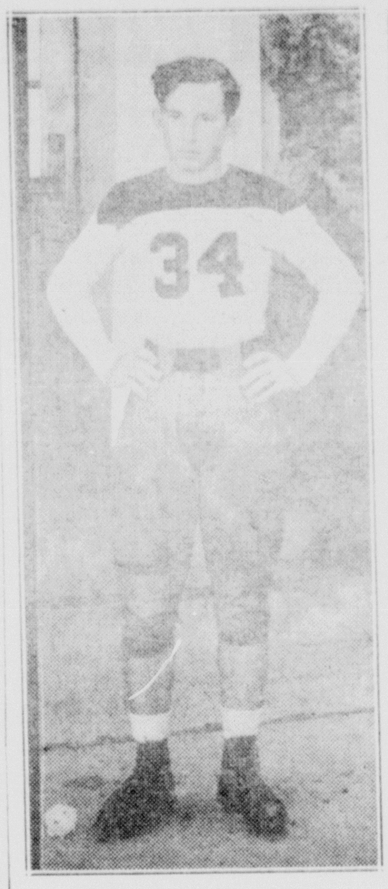
Men and women who love liberty will always oppose censorship of the press, and, perhaps, many other forms of dictation and control. When freedom of speech and of the press no longer endure in these United States or any one of them, then at that time free government will be non-existent also. Readers will take their news and live their lives as a few dictators and autocratic rulers dish it out to them—they will be monkeys and no longer men.

Newspaper publishers and editors are quick to resent any invasion of their freedom by the government. The people have been with them thus far and will probably stay with them for some time longer. They seem to realize fairly well what a controlled press would mean. Newspaper operators may depend upon the public to defend them unless the men and women who compose that public believe one thing about the newspapers and their news columns.

That one thing is that those columns are being controlled by something else other than an honest, sincere presentation of the truth, either in news or editorial columns. Newspaper publishers should take care to keep the confidence of the people by never allowing special interests, either political, financial, or religious, to dictate what shall and shall not be printed for all mankind to read. Editors and publishers must do their part to keep the press "free" not only from unjust governmental dictation but from improper considerations of other kinds, as well.

The public will help keep the press free from governmental interferences with its liberties if it feels that the press is free from other improper taints. Newspaper men themselves must keep the press free from other improper influences.

Co-Captains for 1936 Yoemen



GERALD MODE

JOE McLEAN

Coach L. C. Wood took another step toward rounding out his 1936 Yoemen this week when the squad named their officers.

Joe McLean, is captain in the backfield and Gerald Mode is line captain. Thus the squad will have a co-captainship around which to run its plays in battle. Only five lettermen are back again for 1936. The entire squad of old men are graduating this year except five and a few who were on the B Squad and a handful of reserves.

Honors have been divided among the five lettermen who are back with the team this year.

Earl Peck, backfield star, will be captain on the night of October 18 when the Yoemen play Taylor in Taylor; Luther Poole will be Captain on the night of October 9 when the Yoemen play Georgetown in Cameron and James Stewart will be captain at Granger when the Yoemen play there on October 23.

Taking Football Seriously.

Sports are fine things, but only as recreations and entertainment. A sport transformed into a business or a labor is no longer a sport but work.

Some people think football is fast arriving at that stage. Professional teams have long since made their appearances, where the former sport is frankly regarded as a business profession for the players. That is not bad in itself.

Colleges continue to regard football as an amateur sport. Students engaged in it are supposed to be even more interested and concerned in their studies. Are they? The art of coaching college teams has already passed into a profession. Coaches and their reputations mean more than victory for dear old alma mater does most of the time.

Time and again in college football trained elevens step out on the gridiron they represent an institution when a majority of the players do not live in the territory served by the college—they have been imported along with a new coach and come not to shed luster on the college but to protect and bolster the gridiron mentor so he will add to his reputation, thereby safeguarding a good job or promoting a better one!

We are not complaining. We like a good game, whether played by aliens or natives, and a forward pass nicely executed thrills regardless of whether the hand that threw it and the arm that received it came from Canada, Australia, or nearer home. Only, it lacks a little of being what we would call amateur sport.

Educational Trend.

The people of Milam county should be, and are, vitally interested in the progress of education, realizing as they do that the future of this section depends upon the type of education our children receive. With this in mind and without comment, we call attention to some recent educational news items.

From Fayetteville, Arkansas, comes word that the University of Arkansas is seeking to reach youth on farms by staging a program intended to organize young adults into community junior-adult 4-H Clubs. The county and home demonstration agents will carry out service which is designed to "meet the needs and desires of this large group of young people who have been without opportunity and plans for the future." Fundamentally, the idea is to give the young people a "broad onception of farm and home operations as a whole."

From Iowa City, Iowa, comes an account of the twenty free ambulances operated by the University of Iowa. This institution provides treatment without cost for the needy and patient delivery is accomplished to and from all parts of the state. The ambulances run on schedule and transport about 2,000 persons a month. The expense of hospitalization and transportation is paid by legislative appropriation.

From Schnectady, New York comes the story of Union College where President Parker Day, in 1929, inaugurated a policy aimed to get every student into some form of competitive sports. His successor, Dr. Dixon Ryan Fox, has continued the effort and reports that 489 of the 750 undergraduates atively participate in intramural and inter-collegiate athletics. More than twenty different athletic competitions are offered in the intramural program and even the faculty has been encouraged to participate in athletic recreation.

The Nation Improves.

Readers of The Herald have been aware of the steady improvement in the economic condition of the country during the present year. President Roosevelt recently commented on the domestic situation and it might be well to call attention to the items which reflect our national improvement.

Dividends declared in November by 827 corporations were the largest for any month since June 1931 and the best for the month since 1930. Reflecting increased earnings, these companies paid out $401,523,897 in dividends as compared with $347,-2446,152 in the same month last year.

The New York Times Weekly Index of Business Activity recently advanced to 94.6 compared to 76.9 for the same week last year and is almost up to the top limit of the spurt that was witnessed in the early summer of 1933. It is well above the top limit for the whole of last year and has been moving upward practically the entire year.

Great activity in the automobile industry has followed the introduction of new models in the fall rather than during the first of the year and the Federal Reserve Board reports a "marked and substantial" increase in residential building for the first time since the decline that occured in 1828. The same source finds industrial production at its highest since 1930, again expecting the early 1933 boomlet.

The manufacturing employment index of the Department of Labor Stood at 85.3 for October, the highest since October, 1930, and the payroll index was 75.1, the highest since March, 1931. Moreover, 250,000 workers returned to jobs in private industry in the month.

Secretary of Commerce Roper reveals that pre-Christmas buying in principal retail centers is up from five to twenty-five per cent over 1934 and the Department of Agriculture finds that farm incomes are on the upgrade compared with last year.

Hailing a Discovery.

A discovery that will revolutionize dentistry, it is claimed, eliminates all pain by applying a solution to the outer part of the teeth without the patient being aware of it. Moreover, it "offers the possibility of saving teeth now lost through extraction."

The new pain killer will mean much to the world if it is what is announced. Millions of children throughout the world will enjoy better health through the possession of better teeth if they no longer fear the dentists chair. Moreover, there are adults without number who now resort to the dentist only in desperation.

desirable quality of adult life and citizenship.

It is a mistake to suppose that childhood learning can prepare the individual to cope with the problems of mature life. The reason so many persons fail to cope with the problems that come with maturity is because they stopped learning when they "stoped school."

Genuine public education is something more than a public school and college education. It is a matter of adults tackling the business of shaping and reshaping their present environment and becoming masters of themselves in the process.

Under present conditions it appears necessary to look beyond the schools for agencies of adult education. But adults should be able to look beyond the schools and teach themselves. They are given the power to reason for that purpose. Adult schooling is found in books, newspapers, magazines, public forums, museums, travel and thinking.

Learning confined to adolescense leaves an attitude toward life essentially distorted. The world is moving so rapidly that adult education is a life-time, not a periodical, undertaking.

From The Farewell Address

. . . As aventues to foreign influence in innumerable ways, such attachments are particularly alarming to the truly enlightened and independent patriot. How many opportunities do they afford to tamper with domestic factions, to practice the arts of seduction, to mislead public opinion, to influence or awe the public councils! Such an attachment of a small or weak towards a great and powerful nation dooms the former to be the satellite of the latter.

Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence, I conjure you to believe me, fellow-citizens, the jealousy of a free people ought to be constantly awake; since history and experience prove that foreign influence is one of the most baneful foes of republican government. But that jealousy, to be useful, must be impartial, else it becomes the instrument of the very influence to be avoided, instead of a defense against it. Excessive partiality for one foreign nation, and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests.

The great rule of conduct for us, in regard to foreign nations, is, in extending our commercial relations, to have with them as little political connection as possible. So far as we have already formed engagements, let them be fulfilled with perfect good faith. Here let us stop . . .

A jury in District Court here late Wednesday afternoon declared Jack Crain sane.

testified they believed Crain had been acting strange and that he is insane. Recently he broke jail in Cameron.

Witnesses testified for Crain were Mr. and Mrs. George Manley of Mineral; N. B. Northcutt, Andrew Jenkins, Jim Shumate, Joe Wallace, all of Rockdale; Hal Harris of Rockdale and J. M. Kelly of Cameron.

Evidence to prove Jack Crain is sane was produced by Criminal District Attorney Emory B. Camp on Wednesday morning.

R. M. Thompson and W. B. Cline of the Eastham prison farm near Crockett were placed on the stand.

Each testified that Crain acted as a sane man and always carried out his work and followed instructions while on the farm.

Dr. W. R. Newton, who had examined and conversed with Jack Crain last week stated that Crain was not of unsound mind. W. C. Colvin, Constable of Rockdale, who had known Crain for a number of years said he had at times admonished Crain about drinking, and had also arrested him several times. He said that Crain is sane.

Markham

With the Hoe," an interpretation of Mille's "Angelus," will read his poems on Monday evening, 8 p. m., February 24, in Baylor University at Waco Hall under the auspices of the Sigma Tau Delta English literary honor fraternity.

Edwin Markham's last visit to this vicinity was fifteen years ago when he attended the Diamond Jubilee. At that time he was given an ovation and it was necessary to arrange a special recital of his poems which in reality made his third public appearance in Waco in two weeks for he appeared also on a program with Vachel Lindsay, Harriet Monroe, Amy Lowell and other poets who were visiting Baylor at the time. A limited number of copies of "The man with the Hoe" has been printed which Mr. Markham will autograph to be sold for fifty cents, the proceeds being donated to the Browning Library these can be secured through Dr. A. J. Armstrong whose guest Mr. Markham will be during his stay in Waco.

Although Mr. Markham is over eighty, he shows no signs of old age and his voice is as strong as ever.

No American poet, not even Longfellow, whom Markham most nearly resembles, has received such wide recognition.

Building of Airplanes in U. S. Shows Decrease

Washington.—Six hundred and sixty-nine airplanes were manufactured in the United States during the first six months of 1933, according to Ewing Y. Mitchell, assistant secretary of commerce for aviation.

Of this number, 393 were built for domestic civil use, 212 for military delivery, and 151 for delivery to foreign countries.

The 1933 figure is a decrease as compared with the number for the first half of 1932, when 722 planes were produced. The biggest drop was in the number of planes for military use, 325 being produced for military purposes in the 1932 period. A drop also was noted in the domestic civil use figure, 351 having been built for this class in the 1932 period, while the figure then for foreign shipment was only 46, showing a sharp rise for the 1933 figures.

Of the planes built the first half of this year for domestic and civil use were included 215 monoplanes, 84 biplanes and seven autogiros.

Cameron Women In World Prayer Day

Since 1927 women around the world have observed the first Friday in Lent as a day of united prayer for the cause most earnestly desired in each respective year.

On Friday, February 28 minds and hearts will be specially directed toward the attainment of Peace.

At the request of the World Day of Prayer Committee the program for use this year was prepared by Senorita Laura Jorquera of Santiago, Chile. It is noteworthy that she chose to place in the heart of the program the story of Christ of the Andes—the immense bronze statue of Christ placed on the boundary line between Argentina and Chile commemorating the peace pacts of May, 1901.

Our local service will be at 3:30 Friday February 28 at the Baptist Church. Mrs. O. C. Acrey is asking members of the several churches to assist in conducting the service mentioned above.

PRESBYTERIANS HERE ANSWER ROLL CALL

Sleet, ice, bitter cold winds had no terror for Presbyterians last Sunday morning at the annual Roll Call Service. The auditorium was filled with the membership who answered the roll which was called by Judge W. G. Gillis, clerk of the session.

The attendance was gratifying to the paster and officers of the church. This service is always the largest attended at any time during the year.

Judge Gillis called the roll of 300 members in fourteen minutes. Members responded rapidly and distinctly so that the clerk called the roll in a record time. It is possible that a church of six or seven hundred members could have a roll call in a reasonable length of time and yet have a service. The Lord's supper was served on this occasion by the elders of the church.

A large number of absentees were accounted for by illness and out of town calls. Considering all circumstances, the roll call was a success from the standpoint of attendance and spirit.

BETTER LIGHT
BETTER SIGHT

"Seeing is mighty important to you. It is to everybody. Yet schools find that 1 out of 5 children have defective vision. Poor light is a cause of poor vision because it strains the eyes.

"If you have children in school you can guard them against poor light by giving them Better Light for Better Sight. Maybe their eyes are good now. They may see well without glasses . . . but poor light will wear their eyes, hurt their general health, cause them to make poor grades, and destroy the perfection of their vision.

"If you do not have children in school, you have eyes of your own . . . and do you know that as eyes grow older they require more light, and better light because the pupils contract.

"I make the light you read by at night. I can only make for you as good light as your lamps and fixtures will permit.

"You and I together can produce Better Light for Better Sight in your home. I will if you will. Ask about the Sight Meter test at the Store. This test will take the guesswork out of your lighting, and show exactly what you need to make it right."

"Call of Wild," Jack Londons Great Epic of the North Wilds, Cameron Theatre Sunday and Monday; Story of a Dog and Adventure

The nationwide search for an animal to play "Buck," the dog hero of Jack London's "Call of the Wild" in 20th Century's film version of the thrilling tale, not only discovered a great new dog star, but also revealed the heart-rending real-life story of canine "Ugly Duckling."

After searching the country over, producer Darryl Zanuck and director William Wellman were still not satisfied. Then, one day they visited the kennels of Carl Spitz, who owed his fortune to the talents of his monster Great Dane, Gray Boy, who is in constant demand by film producers.

But this was not to be Gray Boy's day. Looking around the kennels, Zanuck and Wellman spied a huge St. Bernard. Now the 18 months old pup was the "ugly duckling" of the Spitz kennels—his owner had not ever seen fit to train him for screen work.

That's the Dog!"

"That's the dog to play Buck!" the producer and director chorused. For contrary to general belief, Jack London described Buck not as a half-wolf husky, but a cross between a St. Bernard and a collie, and he answered that description to the film men.

"But it's impossible!" countered the astonished Spitz. "He has never had any training. Couldn't you use my Gray Boy?"

But Wellman was emphatic. "Take him up to the location at Mt. Baker, Washington, and start training him as a sled dog. I'll be up there in three weeks with the company. By that time I want him sufficiently trained to play Buck."

Noting Spitz' wistful gaze as he glanced over at Gray Boy, Zanuck added: "You can take the Great Dane along, too. We can use him as the dog that Buck fights in the picture."

But the producer had reckoned without his canines, for that scene was not to be.

Enmity Between Dogs

When Wilhelm arrived at Mt. Baker with his troupe, he was astonished at the progress Spitz had made with Buck. But in order to expediate Buck's schooling, it was necessary for Spitz to completely ignore his beloved Gray Boy and spend every hour of the day and night with the St. Bernard.

Spitz didn't notice the enmity growing between the two animals, until one day the Great Dane made a lunge at St. Bernard, just in time, Spitz' assistant threw himself between the dogs and fended Gray Boy off. Huge crates were made to keep them apart when not working. But the air was hideous with their snarls and howls as long as they were in each other's sight.

Spitz sought to make peace with Gray Boy by slipping out at night to say a few words to him, but Buck found out about it and battered at the door and howled so fiercely every time Spitz left the room that the animal trainer had to give up seeing Gray Boy altogether and the big dog fight scene had to be cut out, because Director Wellman knew that it would be a fight to the death.

And meanwhile, Gray Boy languishes and refuses to eat. Spitz is miserable in the thought that he is being ungrateful to the animal that made his fortune. And Buck, the "Ugly Duckling" of the kennels, alone is in ascendance, due to his wonderful work in the screen adaption of the great Jack London story prepared by Gene Fowler and Leonard Praskins. "Call of the Wild" is a Joseph M. Schenck presentation released through United Artists.

In this remarkable screen version of the great London story of the north wastes, Clark Gable and Loretta Young are teamed. The picture comes to the Cameron Theatre on February 23 and 24.

Lady Took Cardui When Weak, Nervous

"I can't say enough for Cardui if I talked all day," enthusiastically writes Mrs. L. H. Caldwell, of Statesville, N. C. "I have used Cardui at intervals for twenty-five years," she adds. "My trouble in the beginning was weakness and nervousness. I read of Cardui in a newspaper and decided right then to try it. It seemed before I had taken half a bottle of Cardui I was stronger and was soon up and around."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

with Mr. Liborus Gerick. She was then Miss Agnes Bauer and became the wife of Mr. Gerick on July 26, 1871. They enjoyed their early married life on their farm.

In October, 1882, they came to America and settled on the Randolph farm in Milam county. A few years later they bought a farm of their own and she lived there until her death. She lived south of Ad Hall with her only son, Joe Gerick, Sr.

Life was to allot only a few years for Mr. and Mrs. Gerick to live together. God allowed them 31 years to live together. Death claimed Mr. Gerick on February 6, 1902. Mrs. Gerick struggled to keep her family of 10 children and rear them good Texas citizens and each child is thankful to her for all her efforts.

Mrs. Gerick remained on this earth 34 years after her husband died. Her eyes closed on the same date as when her husband died, February 6, 1936 at 7 p. m., leaving six children to mourn her loss as long as they shall live.

Mrs. Gerick was in good health until two weeks before her death. She was confined to her room. She died wishing her children to fulfill her will and that for each to do their part in life.

Mrs. Gerick is survived by her son, Joe Gerick, Sr., of Ad Hall; Mrs. Adolph Hanke of Burkett, Texas; Mrs. Joe Morbitzer, Scotland; Mrs. Mary Heitman, Milano; Mrs. Agnes Horlica of East Bernard and Mrs. Louisa Bolf of Buckholts. She had 60 grand children and 20 great grandchildren.

Pallbearers were her grand sons: Louis Gerick, Ad Hall; Adolph Horlica, Buckholts; Louis Horlica, East Bernard; Bruno Morbitzer of Scotland; George Heitman of Houston and Bennie Heitman of Milano.

Green & Boedeker of Cameron had charge of funeral arrangements and services were held in St. Monica's Catholic church in Cameron. Rev. Father Apel, pastor, said the beautiful mass for the deceased. Interment was made in St. Monica's cemetery in Cameron.
